

PRIDE, SERVICE & ARTISTRY

“I understand what the modern bride expects from her wedding photographer...”

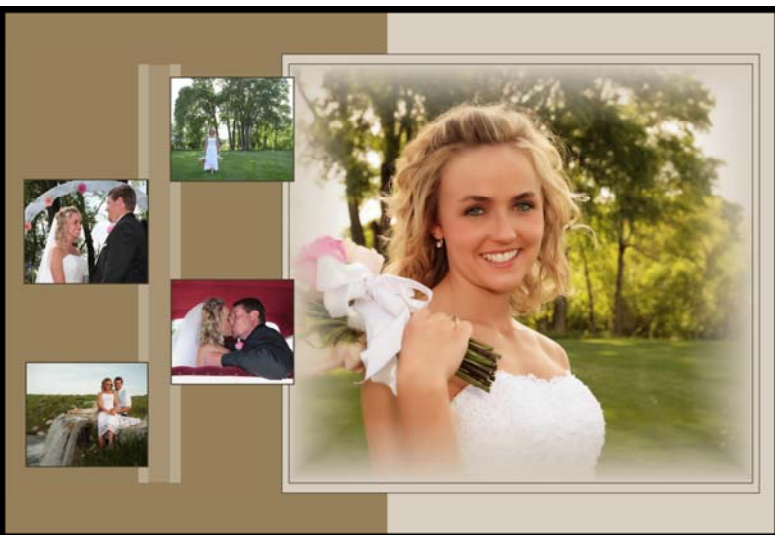

Producing over 15,000 wedding photographs per season, across the Western US, David Chilcott understands what the modern bride expects from her wedding photographer. “First and foremost, every bride wants a gorgeous picture of herself. She wants to remember her wedding gown, her flowers, friends and the excitement of the day.”

David continues, “She also wants photography conducted with as little fuss and as little time spent as possible. Brides expect premium wedding photography, with all high resolution photos printed as large proofs as well as burned to CD.” David adds that brides also expect a copyright release as well as fair and uncomplicated pricing.

“We take pride in offering brides full day coverage with no hourly charges or hidden fees,” David shares. “We are known for an easy-going style, and communicate with our brides to get the job done regardless of time constraints, temperature or the weather.”

David’s service extends past his artistic talent and dedication to his clients; he offers a wide variety of printed products, including unique features. “We produce custom designed flush mount collage wedding albums, professional 5"x7" proof books, one of a kind hard cover coffee-table wedding books, slideshows, gorgeous custom printed enlargements as well as wrap around gallery canvas prints,” David says.

“We are known for an easy-going style...”

“We use only the finest cameras, lenses and computer software to record, digitally enhance and produce wedding photos of superb quality.” He adds, “After hand adjusting each photo for color balance, saturation, brightness, contrast and composition, etc., files are electronically transmitted for proof printing by one of the most respected wedding labs in the country.”

David doesn’t limit his service to the wedding day. “Engagement session photography is included with every package. Brides receive a complimentary 8"x10" print from this session for their newspaper engagement announcement as well as a CD containing all high resolution images.”

David continues, “We promise that within two weeks of their wedding, brides will receive 5"x7" proof albums containing all wedding photographs, a high resolution image CD of wedding photos as well as a slideshow CD.”

Further proving that David listens to the desires of brides, he adds, “Images are not copyrighted and brides are free to make prints at the lab of their choice. All wedding day photos are posted in the bride’s photo galley accessible via the David Chilcott Photography web site (see address at left) for easy viewing via the internet. The gallery is not password protected and is perfect for those out of town guests who were unable to attend the wedding as they can view and purchase photos at their leisure.” David’s beautiful work adorns the Wyoming Weddings home page, our posters and post cards. He is also featured in our 2009 Wedding Planner. When you’re searching for artistry and easy-going service, look no further than David Chilcott Photography.
